

Astralguide on world Events

by astralguide

The world seems to be in turmoil. The world always has been like that. After a respite of peace, men go to war. The events started From June 2006 will have a bit long tail and not be ending sometime soon. Sometimes like with a few rain drops initially, become endless rain storms that never seem to stop, the events that you witness in June - July are initial raindrops. We will be posting more news and analysis and a brief prognosis for times to come. Try not to make long term travel. We will be posting more input shortly! Dont know when that will be but soon.

Astralguide on world Events by astralguide